

Vestal, Volcom, Valient Thorr, Viper Room & Vodka all adds up to one hell of a night.

If you didn't venture up to LA last Friday you blew it. Valient Thorr put on another great show at the world famous Viper Room. The usual suspects were there, as were a few notable celebrities. Shawn White made it back from his Olympic Gold venture to hang out with Rick Thorne, and even the Hobbit himself, Elijah Wood, was there.

Even though I made it up there sort of late, I did catch most of the show both on and off stage. Valient Thorr delivered! The crowd was just as entertaining though; more than a few bottles of Jack were being passed around the crowd to keep everyone warmed. Everyone was in great spirits, the venue was perfect and the chase around LA afterwards was an event in itself : Saddle Ranch calls from the Hyatt lobby to Marty's room, LAX, Mike T's party at a great bar that I can't remember the name of, Jessica & Stephanie from Landmark making the drive. All in all, another good night was had. And, like I said earlier, if you missed it you missed out!
